Public Comments:

Comment from Ms. Salas: "I have a particular interest in the two initiatives that pertain to High Point High School, which is the total I don't want to say renovation, because it would be a total build-up of the current building, but also the construction of the new Adelphi High School in that area. And we have been having conversations since the end of November of last year, the board submitted a proposal to the council, and the council basically pulled back support, especially for that project. And so what I wanted to know, I apologize ahead of time if I have not been paying much attention to anything that has been on the news, but what is the status of that effort? I know that there was a letter that the state sent to the council asking specific questions. There was a deadline on January 31st to reply And the bottom line is that the last conversation that I heard is that the council was supportive of a new high school of 2,000 seats, whereas is the original proposal and the proposal that would be most successful for this effort would be 2,600 seats. And so I don't know what has happened with that. Maybe Mr. Matlock can shed some light of that."

Chair Ivey responds: "I don't have all of that in front of me, ma'am, but what I can remember is that we approved the New Northern High School for 2,600 seats and High Point for 2,000. I think that's right, and I could be wrong, so don't yell at me if I'm wrong."

Shawn Matlock adds: "You're correct. That's more of the capital program, which is not technically part of the P3. But yes, a letter was submitted to the state supporting the two high schools. It was timely submitted and is under consideration by the IAC. That currently is still where we are."
