What did we learn?

- Students want more opportunities to engage in sports, recreational activities, after-school clubs, as well as field trips.
- Various student groups indicated interest in more cultural events
- School safety is not a concern amongst different student groups.

- Teachers would like students to have more support with reading and math
- More Social, emotional, and behavioral support
- More strategies to support students struggling in academics.

- Families want more opportunities for teacher communication
- Families are satisfied with the climate and culture
- More academic supports such as tutoring.
- More opportunities for family and community engagement.
- Need for mentorship opportunities for students and resources for families.
- Need for after-school tutoring and homework support.

Priorities and Opportunities

Rigorous,
Community-Connected
Classroom Instruction and Expanded, Enriched
Learning Opportunities

Waldon Woods plans to focus on continuing and expanding programming for before and after-school programs to provide support. Provide services that help families through emotional situations. The school will continue to find activities to enrich our growing diverse population.

Collaborative Leadership,
Shared Power, and Voice

Engaged families through events/resource fairs. Strengthening communication between parents and teachers. Steering Committee active will look over the needs of the school and home to prepare according to families. Partner with local churches and businesses to build community support. Improve communication; PTSA/parent advisory group. More parental and student input.

Integrated Systems
of Support

Mental Health and School Counselor support. Parents supported by the school Counseling team. Provide sessions that would be inclusive for family members.

Culture of Belonging,
Safety, and Care

Waldon Woods plan to offer more professional development opportunities to staff to address school climate and culture. Staff members work together to provide a caring environment for the children entering the building. Family engagement has been great for families to feel a sense of belonging and provides a chance to discuss any issues or concerns.

Powerful Student and Family Engagement

Waldon Woods recognizes the importance of student and family engagement. The school would focus their efforts on creating a welcoming environment to strengthen school and family partnerships and offer access to academic, mental, and physical wellness resources. Parents have built relationships with staff members that have allowed the educational process to be effective.
