November 2025

Art Class with Ms.O

In November, students in grades 3rd-5th will work on blending techniques to add shading, texture, and highlights to their artwork. They will also work on showing weather, time of day, and season in their landscape drawings based on their choice of color and detail. Students in grades preK-2nd will work on drawing people based on memory, imagination, and observation. They will focus on adding new information to their drawings of people, such as showing movement, or designing their outfits to tell a story. We will also begin incorporating writing into art, with younger students using letters to create drawings and older students writing simple artist statements about what they have made.

PE with Mr. Stewart and Mr. West

In P.E. this month, students in grades Pre-K to 2nd will begin by performing the underhand throw in non-dynamic practice tasks, laying the foundation for the overhand throw they will use in grades 3-5. In these grades, they will practice the critical elements needed to reach maturity of the skill and ultimately towards using the skill in small-sided tasks, game-play, and environments where they are ultimately aiming at targets and hitting them with accuracy most of the time.

Music Class with Mr. Mills and Ms. Eubanks

Happy November, Parents!

During the month of November, we will be gearing up for our annual Winter concert! We have set a date for December 11th and will send out more information about the time at a later date. Ms. Eubanks and Mr. Mills would appreciate parents' cooperation in allowing practice time at home for the various music they will be learning.

Hello, Mr. Mills here!

In November, we are discussing patriotic music and its importance to this country. Students will learn the history of the National Anthem and of people such as Francis Scott Key.

Parents can help at home by recognizing patriotic symbols (the flag, U.S. holidays, etc.) and asking questions about patriotic songs and how they may relate to these symbols.
