November 2024

Art Class with Ms. O

What We are Learning this Month:

During November, students in grades 3rd-5th will continue to work on their landscape drawing. They will experiment with alternative ways to color such as using patterns to fill empty space. Students in PreK-2nd are currently working on creating portraits, identifying all the parts of the face, and putting facial features in the correct spots (proportion).

Ways families can support learning from home:

For grades 3-5, families can take their child on a nature walk to identify different types of plants and trees. For students in grades PreK-2nd families can share family portraits with their children for drawing inspiration.

Music Class with Mr. Mills and Ms. Eubanks

What We are Learning this Month:

In music, the students are learning the importance of being able to read music. Students are learning the different pitches on the treble clef staff.

Ways families can support learning from home:

Families can support the students by reminding them of the two formulas:

Notes on the lines are identified using the phrase "Every Good Boy Does Fine" and notes in the spaces are identified using the word "FACE".

PE with

Mr. Stewart and Mr. West

What We Are Learning this Month:

In November, all students will learn and practice the proper underhand and overhand throwing forms in a variety of practice and lesson activities. The simplest way to remember throwing is SWING, STEP, THROW. Following these basic steps will help students execute throwing to the best of their ability. Students will also demonstrate their ability to catch a ball above or below their waist as well as with a partner in a variety of practice tasks and activities while being stationary or moving.

Ways families can support learning from home:

Using any throwable object in their home, families can practice throwing and catching with another person. Try catching an object at least 10 times, then practice throwing to an individual or target at least 10 times.
